Budget a 'gambit': Finance minister

Alberta

Budget

POLITICS Alberta Finance Minister Ted Morton has hit the airwaves to sell his budget with the explanation that "no gambit is risk free."

The new budget pours money into health care, but leaves a record deficit and billions of new debt.

Morton told a radio show his plan tries to manage risk while covering services. Premier Ed Stelmach had said there would be deep spending cuts, but Morton says the plan was changed because of the recession.

But Wildrose Alliance Leader Danielle Smith says Alberta is getting only mediocre results despite having the second highest per-capita spending in Canada. Smith says people are asking why British Columbia, Ontario and Saskatchewan manage to deliver a comparable system for a lot less money.

Bissell Centre celebrating its centennial

POVERTY One hundred years ago Rev. William Pike and his wife, Florence, founded the Bissell Centre — originally named All People's Mission — to help Ukrainian immigrants settle into the community.

In the foyer of city hall yesterday, the Bissell Centre kicked off its centennial celebration in front of a packed house.

The Bissell Centre is a community resource centre in Edmonton's inner city for individuals and families living in poverty. For its birthday, the centre was awarded $97,000 in funding from the federal government and MP Peter Goldring was on hand to make the announcement.

"The work that the Bissell Centre has done through all of these years has been so wonderfully commendable," he said.

While the event kicked off a year-long celebration, Mayor Stephen Mandel said he hopes to see the day when a facility like Bissell isn't necessary in the city.

City wants LRT input

Online voting open for three possible expansion routes

ANDREAS MORSE
for Metro Edmonton

The city is preparing to propose more tracks for an expanded LRT system but they want the public's input before they proceed.

Three potential LRT routes for the NAIT to northwest Edmonton line were unveiled yesterday and the public was invited to view and comment on the three options.

Ultimately, according to Bob Boutilier, general manager of transportation, the proposed line will be an important step in the future development of the municipal airport.

"The northwest extension of the LRT system beyond NAIT represents the last major leg of the LRT system," Boutilier said. "This is our first opportunity to go through the municipal airport lands and put the LRT down as part of the design and development of that site."

The potential LRT routes include corridors which run primarily along St. Albert Trail, 127 Street or 113 A Street. All three would begin at the NAIT LRT station — which the city hopes to have completed by 2014 — and end at the proposed Park and Ride site southeast of St. Albert.

"As with any LRT routes or planning study, there are going to be impacts to residents and businesses along the corridor," said Adam Laughlin, director of facility and capital planning, transportation planning. "So we're offering an extensive public consultation process providing opportunities for the public to be informed of the route selection process."

An online survey is underway at www.edmonton.ca/LRT/projects and will be online until Feb. 24. Workshops and further consultations are planned for March. A final recommendation will be put forward to city council in June.

FC Edmonton hopes to work with community and feature local talent

CODIE MCLACHLAN

Edmonton's newest soccer team will start playing in the 2011 season, and the team's general manager is hopeful that the lineup will include a lot of local players.

The team, tentatively named FC Edmonton, has approached Foote Field and Clarke Park as possible venues for practice and home games.

"This year we're going to play a series of exhibition games," general manager Mel Kowalchuk said. "We will be inviting players to our training camp in April."

The team will give local players a chance to be on the team before branching out and adding European players.

"Hopefully with enough games this year, the young kids can fill in and do the job."

Kowalchuk feels that the timing is right for a new Edmonton soccer team to come into existence because of popular media, particularly soccer-oriented television stations.

"The North American Soccer League brought in probably more superstars than a lot of European teams had, but the North American sports fans did not know that," Kowalchuk said, referring to the Edmonton Drillers in the '70s and '80s.

"There's probably more soccer channels out there than anything else, and it gives you a lot of exposure."

Kowalchuk hopes the team will give local players a chance to stay here and work with their home teams rather than going abroad to play.

FC Edmonton plans to advertise in a "grassroots" way, meaning they will infiltrate the community soccer teams. The team will also utilize the Internet and other more traditional forms of advertising.

SAFETY The province will add 100 more police officers to its ranks this year, fulfilling its promise to add 300 officers over three years.

"Times have changed since I made that promise," Premier Ed Stelmach said during a press conference at the Alberta legislature yesterday. "But one thing that hasn't changed is Albertans' desire to feel safe, to feel secure in their homes and in their communities."

"Alberta is a safer place because of the addition of 300 new officers and the excellent work done by police everyday," Stelmach said.

Of those 100 new officers, 35 are being added to Edmonton and 41 are being added to Calgary.

Harper goes for PR gold

HAZARDS With the Games just a day away, Prime Minister Stephen Harper is preparing for an Olympic marathon — of speeches and photo ops.

Harper was here, there and everywhere in Vancouver yesterday, ending the day with a flag-raising at the athletes' village.

Today, he was scheduled to jump to Victoria for the first-ever speech by a prime minister to the B.C. legislature.

And the following evening, Harper will help officially open the Games at a glittering ceremony — kicking off 15 days of photo ops for politicians of all stripes.

VANCOUVER 2010 Games

to ops for politicians of all stripes.

It's what's called the "euphoric bounce."

If the country feels good about the Winter Games, chances are they'll feel good about the politicians.

Pursuit of that bounce, however, can often be as perilous as snowboarding at 70 km/h.

Ask former sports minister Otto Jelinek about the 1988 Games in Calgary.

"The good thing about the '88 Winter Olympics being over ... is that it means Sports Minister Otto Jelinek won't be turning up in our living rooms every half hour," wrote one journalist.

Jelinek might have been forgiven for exuberantly hoisting Elizabeth Manley aloft on national TV after she won a figure-skating silver medal. He was not.

Another journalist summed up the Calgary Games by describing Manley's performance as creating "yet another fawning attempt by Sports Minister Otto Jelinek to get his mug on camera."

No wedding frills needed

Relating

metronews.ca/papamarko

I am fortunate enough to have many friends and an impossibly huge extended family. As a result, I have been to a LOT of weddings.

Every wedding I've attended has been special in its own way. But some stand out more than others.

If there were Olympics-style scoring in place for weddings, they would be ranked using the following criteria:

1. Company
2. Emotion
3. Quality of food
4. Overall memorability
5. A distinct lack of "The Chicken Dance"

I went to a wedding that scored off the charts this past weekend. The best part was that I didn't even know it was happening.

My dear friend Lindsay invited family and close friends to celebrate her boyfriend

Lee's birthday at a French bistro. The couple are expecting a baby next month and were making a big deal out of this particular birthday because, in Lee's words, it would be the last time they'd ever be seen in public.

Before the main course, Lee stood up to make a speech. He thanked everyone for coming and casually announced that he and Lindsay had gotten married earlier that day.

The birthday celebration suddenly became something else.

It's a wedding that I will remember much more vividly than all of the evenings featuring taffeta, extravagant floral arrangements, smoke machines and cheesy DJs playing Kool and the Gang.

There was no cake. No dance floor. No ice sculptures. No bridesmaids. But none of these trappings were missed.

Because this low-key affair had everything that makes a wedding great: The wine flowed. The food was gorgeous. The bride looked beautiful in a black maternity dress that she scored for 50 per cent off and a string of pearls with sentimental value. The speeches were tearful and sincere. And most importantly, the couple were surrounded by 25 people who love them.

Days later, I still well up whenever I think about it. It was perfectly imperfect. It was the best wedding I have ever attended and I will remember it for as long as I live.

Those of you planning weddings might fall into the trap of mistaking frills for needs. It's not a competition. It's about doing it in a way that makes you happy and reflects your personalities. Get married the way you want (if you choose to get married at all) and it can't be anything but wonderful.

Possible stuttering gene could free parents of guilt

RESEARCH Why people stutter has long been a medical mystery, with the condition blamed over the years on emotional problems, overbearing parents and browbeating teachers. Now, for the first time, scientists have found genes that could explain some cases of stuttering.

"In terms of myth busters, this is really an important step forward," said Jane Fraser, president of the Stuttering Foundation.

Researchers taking part in a government-funded study discovered mutations in three genes that appear to cause the speech problem in some people.

Dennis Drayna, senior author of the study, said he hopes the results help convince doubters that stutter-

Half-baked arguments derailing feminism

BroadMinded

Melinda Mattos

metronews.ca/broadminded

I was riding the streetcar this week when I heard a woman in her early twenties loudly declare to her friend that she hated feminists. Naturally, I yanked off my headphones to hear the rest. "Feminists ruined everything," she insisted. When her friend pushed her to elaborate, she answered simply, "They killed chivalry."

I rolled my eyes and popped my headphones back on. But I couldn't help reflecting on all the unusual attacks I've heard directed at feminists recently.

First, there was the blog-

"I rolled my eyes and popped my headphones back on. But I couldn't help reflecting on all the unusual attacks I've heard directed at feminists recently."

ger in Quebec whose terrifying blog — which celebrates Marc Lépine, the man behind the Montreal Massacre, as a "folk hero" — got him arrested for threatening women. (He was denied bail last week, but his blog is still up and the trial is expected to continue this month.)

Then there was the National Post editorial — seemingly out of the stone age, but actually published just a few weeks ago — that blamed women's studies programs for "untold damage to families, our court systems, labour laws, constitutional freedoms and even the ordinary relations between men and women." (Thankfully, it's been rebutted all over the place, by women from The Walrus magazine, Metro's Canice Leung, and even the National Post's managing editor for news, Anne Marie Owens.)

When compared to these two examples, the chivalry comment seems innocuous enough, and yet it offers a similarly half-baked argument. I didn't get involved in the conversation, but if I had, my irritated, I-haven't-had-my-coffee-yet-so-please-stop-your-nonsense-right-now reply would've sounded something like this:

Never mind the fact feminism won you your right to vote, your ability to get a mortgage without a husband co-signing and a hope in hell of maybe (and it's still a big maybe) making the same salary a man makes — you're ticked off because it's reduced the number of old-school Prince Charmings in the world? Really?

The Oxford English Dictionary defines chivalry as "a man's courteous behaviour, esp. towards women."

There's nothing wrong with wanting to live in a world filled with men who are courageous, courteous and motivated by a sense of justice and honour. But don't you also want to live in a world where women are free to be the exact same things?

FIRE A South African orphanage director died a hero, rescuing nine children as their home burned, local media said yesterday.

The blaze early Tuesday killed Sarah Holland, the founder of the Hope of Christ Home in KwaZulu-Natal province, along with two adults and eight children between the ages of four and 15.

Holland, known as Granny, gathered the children into the only room without burglar bars, according to one of the children.

"Granny passed us all the little babies," Zanele Nkosi, 11, told the Times newspaper. "I gave the babies to my friend and we put them (on) one side and waited for others."

The cause of the blaze remained under investigation.

Civil strike brings Greece to standstill

LABOUR A strike by civil servants shut schools and grounded flights across Greece yesterday, as unions challenged cuts aimed at ending a government debt crisis that has shaken the entire European Union.

Air traffic controllers, customs and tax officials, doctors and schoolteachers walked off the job for 24 hours to protest sweeping government spending cuts that will freeze salaries and new hiring, cut bonuses and stipends and increase the average retirement age by 63.

The strike left state hospitals working with emergency staff only and disrupted national rail travel, although urban mass transport was unaffected. "It's a war against workers and we will answer with war, with constant struggles until this policy is overturned," said Christos Katsiotis, a representative of a communist-party affiliated labour union.

Despite harsh union rhetoric, turnout in Athens' two peaceful protest marches was low, at about 7,000 amid drizzly

Another snowstorm hits U.S. East Coast

Washington breaks centuries-old snowfall record

Massive snowfall and blinding winds blasted Washington and much of America's East Coast yesterday as the U.S. capital struggled with the latest storm in its most difficult winter in memory.

The Washington area has been virtually paralyzed since a storm Friday evening dumped nearly one metre of snow, shutting down the federal government, making travel perilous and leaving residents scrambling to stock up on groceries.

Yesterday's blizzard compounded the problems for Washington and brought new ones to New York and other northeastern cities. In Pennsylvania, the governor closed large stretches of major highways because the second major storm in less than a week was making travel too risky.

"The snow has just been relentless," said Washington fire Chief Dennis L. Rubin, a D.C. native who said the back-to-back storms are like nothing he has ever experienced. "It doesn't seem like we're getting much of a break."

Washington broke a centuries-old record for snowfall, with 139 centimetres collected, more than one centimetre above the previous record from the 1898-1899 season. Nearby Baltimore also set a new record, and meteorologists warned the severe weather may not be the last the region has seen this year. A snow record also was set in Philadelphia to the north. "The winter, of course, is not even close to being over yet," said Eric Wilhelm, a meteorologist with AccuWeather, who predicted the winter of 2009-10 will almost certainly go down as the snowiest on record along the East Coast.

New York, which managed to avoid last week's snowstorm, was not so lucky yesterday. The city was blanketed by the winter storm, which forced the cancellation of hundreds of flights and caused the United Nations to order its workers to stay home, along with the city's 1.1 million school children.

But others braved the conditions to make the trek to the job. Harry Tucker, 44, a bond trader waited for a commuter train in Pelham, N.Y., to take him into the city.

"I work on commission," he said. "If I don't work I don't get paid."

Honda widens recall

Automaker adds 41,000 more cars in Canada

Honda Motor Co. is adding 437,000 vehicles to its 15-month-old global recall for faulty airbags in the latest quality problem to hit a Japanese automaker.

The company will replace the driver's side air bag inflator in the cars because they can deploy with too much pressure, causing the inflator to rupture and injure or kill the driver.

Japan's No. 2 automaker originally announced the recall to the U.S. National Highway Traffic Safety Administration in November 2008 and the total number vehicles recalled since then is nearing 1 million.

The latest expansion of the airbag recall includes 378,000 cars in the U.S. and 41,000 cars in Canada.

Honda's latest U.S. airbag recall affects certain 2001 and 2002 Accord sedans, Civic compacts, Honda Motor Co. is adding 17,000 more cars in Japan and elsewhere to an existing global recall over faulty airbags.

Odyssey minivans, CR-V small sport utility vehicles and some 2002 Acura TL sedans.

Honda said it is aware of 12 incidents linked to the problem — one death in May 2009 and 11 injuries.

Last month Honda recalled 646,000 2007-08 Fit hatchbacks because of a glitch that could cause water to enter the power window mechanism, causing components to overheat.

Air Canada 4th quarter loss drops to $56M

AIRLINES Air Canada beat expectations yesterday by reporting that it lost $56 million in the fourth quarter, a dramatic improvement from the same period in 2008.

The quarterly loss would have been even bigger if not for $108 million in gains on foreign exchange.

In the fourth quarter of 2008, the Montreal-based airline company had a net loss of $727 million, including $527 million in foreign exchange losses.

Premium cabin revenues, which are key to Air Canada's financial health, showed signs of improvement as losses decreased from earlier in the year.

The airline benefited in the final period of the year from an eight per cent drop in operating expenses as lower fuel and favourable foreign exchange trimmed $213 million in costs.

Air Canada is sticking to its goal of achieving $500 million in annual cost savings and revenue enhancements by 2011.

Online lenders target web-savvy customers

Canadians needing to borrow a little cash now have another option to consider besides friends, family, banks or shady loan sharks.

A community of web users will extend a hand — for a price — at least in some provinces.

CommunityLend.com is open for business in Ontario and Quebec, connecting investors who want to get into the consumer loans market with borrowers seeking an alternative to conventional loans and, potentially, a better rate.

For now, the site is accepting applications only for smaller loans, from $1,000 to $25,000, and is targeting “good quality borrowers” with “good to strong” credit (a score of about 657 or higher), said Colin Henderson, chief technology officer.

He thinks young, web-savvy customers won't be afraid to embrace the relatively new idea and will be among the first to take the plunge on the borrowers' side.

“We would expect younger, what you might call Gen-X, Gen-Y types, people who are interested in a different alternative and doing it all online as opposed to visiting a traditional bank branch,” he said.

“They're more familiar with online experiences and how these things would work.”

Borrowers must fill out a profile outlining their credit history and why they're seeking the money. Their application is then turned over to lenders, who can bid for the loan by setting the interest rate they're willing to lend at, which ranges widely between about six and 29 per cent.

On the lender side, CommunityLend is being cautious at its launch and is only accepting “accredited investors,” as defined by the Ontario Securities Commission. That means investors with assets of at least $1 million and annual income of at least $200,000, or a household income of at least $300,000.

Risk also is being mitigated by splitting each loan among 10 lenders, to spread out losses if someone can't pay back their debt. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Printer to sell U.S. holdings

SALE Printing company Transcontinental Inc. is dramatically reducing its U.S. presence after agreeing to sell its American direct mail operations to IWCO Direct of Minnesota for an undisclosed price.

The Montreal-based company said it decided to exit the troubled U.S. business after 12 years to focus on its core printing, publishing and media operations which are located primarily in Canada. Transcontinental CEO Francois Olivier said the company acted because it didn't want to lead this industry's much-needed consolidation.

“We feel that our core business of printing in Canada, publishing in Canada and building this marketing services sector is more strategic for Transcontinental as opposed to be the direct marketing consolidator in the U.S.,” he said in an interview.

Discussions with its largest direct marketing rival began last summer after Transcontinental approached IWCO.

Oilers 2 Ducks 3

Todd Marchant scored the go-ahead goal with 11:39 left in the third period and the Anaheim Ducks beat Edmonton 3-2 last night, setting a franchise record with their 11th straight home victory and extending the Oilers' club-record road losing streak to 11 games.

Bobby Ryan scored twice, and Jonas Hiller made 17 of his 37 saves during the first period in the opener of the four-game season series.

The Ducks are 13-5-0 in their last 18 and just two points behind Calgary for the eighth and final Western Conference playoff spot. They played without Ryan Getzlaf, who sprained his left ankle Monday night in a 4-2 win over Los Angeles.

Ryan Potulny and Ethan Moreau scored short-handed goals in the second period for the Oilers, whose penalty-killing unit had produced only one over the first 58 games.

Jeff Deslauriers made 27 saves.

Edmonton, mired in a 3-22-2 freefall, is at the bottom of the NHL standings with 42 points — seven behind Toronto.

Road game close to home for some Rush players

"It's going to be pretty refreshing considering the amount of travel I've experienced during my time in the league." Brodie Merrill

Merrill spent his first four NHL seasons with the now-defunct Portland, Wash., team that never played Toronto.

"It's going to be pretty refreshing considering the amount of travel I've experienced during my time in the league," Merrill said of the Friday stroll. "I grew up following and supporting the Rock, especially in the time my brother (Pat Merrill, now playing for the New York Titans) was a member of the team."

"Friday night

should be a special experience for many reasons."

Prout, who last played in Toronto three years ago when he was with the Colorado Mammoth, usually goes from the office to the airport to get to 16 regular-season games. This week, he'll stroll over to the team's hotel after work Thursday to check in with his teammates.

"Having my family and friends being able to come out and support me will be great," said Prout. "Hopefully they'll give us enough support to pull out a win."

His father, mother, sister, brother, co-workers and as many as 50 friends will take in the tilt.

"My family may come to watch me play in a couple of weeks in Rochester but this is the only time most of my friends and relatives will watch me play this year," he added. "It definitely will not feel like a road game."

Other Rush players won't have to travel far this week either.

Scott Stewart and Dean Hill also live in Toronto, while Prout, Pat Jones and GM-coach Derek Keenan live in nearby Oshawa, and Derek Suddons resides in Whitby.

Rush players from Ontario who live in the west or who are in Edmonton for the NHL season include captain Chris McElroy of Orillia, goalie Matt Disher of Arthur, Scott Tinning of Kitchener, Andy Score of Hamilton, Cory Small of St. Catharines and Ian Hawke of Niagara-on-the-Lake.

Keenan last had a team play at Air Canada Centre in 2004 when he was GM in Toronto after taking over from an ailing Les Bartley, on whose coaching staff he'd served during four NHL title runs. He's put together formidable teams elsewhere in the ensuing years including in Portland before taking over the Rush this year.

"I think it'll be a bit weird going in there," Keenan said of returning to the ACC. "It's been a long time."

"It's a place I've known success. It was good times, and I learned a lot, too."

Most visiting NHL teams have Ontario-raised players but it seems the Rush have more than most so Keenan is sure to impress upon his players that they've got to think about the game plan more than about friends and family showing up to watch them play.

Edmonton is 3-2 and second in the West Division and Toronto is 5-1 atop the East.

"We have a tough challenge ahead of us because they're a very good team," said Keenan. "We need to focus more on that than where we're playing."

Talbot glad to be joining Eskimos after trade from Argos

CFL Receiver Andre Talbot is not sad to leave the only professional football team he has known, welcoming a trade to the Edmonton Eskimos while saying he had found it increasingly difficult "to be motivated" to continue playing for the Toronto Argonauts.

Talbot, acquired in one of two significant moves executed by the Eskimos yesterday, had spent each of his first nine CFL seasons with the Argos and was one of the last veteran holdovers from the team's last Grey Cup win in 2004. He and fellow Canadian receiver Brad Smith were sent to Edmonton for import defensive tackle Eric Taylor and a conditional pick in the 2011 draft.

"I can't say I was really surprised," Talbot told The Canadian Press. "And to be honest with you, I'm kind of quite happy with it. It's just been such a negative environment around here for the past couple of years, and I was finding it hard to be motivated to be a part of this organization anymore."

The Argos also announced they had released veteran cornerback Jordan Younger, another member of Toronto's 2004 championship team.

"Obviously, change is necessary for the Argos organization right now," Talbot said. "And I think change is also necessary for me right now. I'm happy that I'm going to an organization that's known to have world-class facilities, and they seem to be heading in the right direction."

In addition to the trade, the Eskimos also announced they had signed veteran Canadian line-backer Javier Glatt. The former West Division all-star had spent each of his first seven CFL seasons with the B.C. Lions, helping the team to a Grey Cup win four years ago.

"Javier is a proven commodity in the CFL," Eskimos general manager Danny Maciocia said in a release. "He's experienced, tough and will be a very positive addition to our defence."

Edmonton finished third in the West Division last season with a 9-9 record, but fell to the Calgary Stampeders in the division semifinal.

"I'm thrilled with the opportunity to compete for a job with the Eskimos," Glatt said. "I hope my experience, skill set and attitude will add to a very solid team."

Injury may keep Vonn out of Games

SKIING Lindsey Vonn is worried a badly-bruised right shin will keep her out of the Vancouver Olympics, a startling announcement so close to the start of an event shaping up as a showcase for the U.S. skiing star.

Vonn revealed yesterday that she was injured in a slalom training run Feb. 2 during a pre-Olympic practice in Austria. It was her first trip down the slopes of what was supposed to be three days of practice.

"I'm sitting here today questioning whether, you know, I'll be even able to ski," Vonn said at a news conference. "I have to play it by ear."

As a two-time reigning overall World Cup champion, the 25-year-old who lives and trains in Vail, Colo., has been considered a contender to win multiple medals.

Asked whether she could be forced to sit out altogether, Vonn replied: "Yeah, that's a possibility."

She hasn't skied since getting hurt and said it's even been painful to simply put on a pair of ski boots in her hotel room to test the leg. Vonn said the bruising covers about a 15-centimetre swath of her lower right leg but she refused to get any X-rays to check whether she broke a bone because she didn't want to know.

Canada's Charles Hamelin, left, moves up on Apolo Anton Ohno of the United States during the final of the men's 1000-metre event at the short-track speedskating ISU World Cup in Montreal on Nov. 8. The two are expected to compete for Olympic gold.

Short-track showdown

U.S. superstar Ohno stands between Hamelin and gold

Bring up the name of celebrity skater Apolo Anton Ohno with members of Canada's short-track speedskating team and they will provide no shortage of opinions.

This is clearly someone they've spent time thinking about.

Ohno, who goes into the Vancouver Games threatening to become the most decorated American Winter Olympian in history, will be competing directly with Canadian star Charles Hamelin for medals.

That makes for a spirit of grudging respect and subtle hostility towards Ohno, a five-time Olympic medalist with a Hollywood attitude, in the Canadian camp.

"He's all right, he's been better," Canadian speedskater Olivier Jean said nonchalantly.

"He's a skater who really knows the game and is always well placed and has excellent strategies, with a lot of experience, but he's not as dominant physically now compared with the other athletes."

Ohno and Hamelin are rivals, but the two couldn't be more different — at least on the surface.

"Charles is less of a showman, less pretentious, less arrogant," said medal favourite Kalyna Roberge of her teammate.

Ohno is competing at his third Games at age 27. He is one of the best-known amateur athletes in the world, an entertainer whose hip-hop freestyle and paso doble famously took him to the top on the TV show Dancing with the Stars. Requests for interviews with Ohno must go through his agent, rather than US Speedskating.

Hamelin, 25, has become a star in his native Quebec, but remains slightly shy and intensely focused. After Hamelin and his teammates were eclipsed by Ohno's star power at a 2008 world cup competition in Vancouver, they've worked on raising the profile of the Canadian athletes in time for the Games, where many fans from Ohno's hometown of Seattle will be in attendance.

"(Charles) is more discreet, more Quebecois," team leader Yves Hamelin said of his son. "It's harder for him to play a role. He's very available, he's going to give back a lot to the sport, and as much to the media as to his sponsors."

Gretzky avoids questions about role

REMARKS Wayne Gretzky made an appearance on the eve of the Vancouver Games and added to the growing speculation he might be given a significant role in the opening ceremonies.

The Great One avoided a swarm of reporters after speaking briefly at a promotional event for one of his sponsors yesterday, twice slipping out side exits rather than facing questions ahead of the Olympics. There are rumours he could be involved in Friday's opening ceremonies at B.C. Place — perhaps as the final torchbearer — and Gretzky did little to squelch that talk by aggressively ducking the media.

His public comments were limited to a one-minute speech delivered to a crowd that included dignitaries such as B.C. Premier Gordon Campbell and John Furlong, CEO of the Vancouver Olympic organizing committee. During that address, Gretzky recalled being in Prague as part of the team bidding for the Vancouver Olympics.

"I remember sitting with Premier Campbell and Mr. Furlong and we kept saying the same thing: 'This really is a great city, this is really a great province and this really is a great country,'" he said.

Simple solutions for cleaning up

They are the cleaning jobs around the house that can drive even the most ardent neat freak a bit batty — the vase you can't properly wash or the tile grout that isn't as fresh-looking as it once was.

In Real Simple Solutions, the editors of Real Simple magazine are sharing some of their wisdoms, tricks and easy ideas to not only take the elbow grease out of cleaning, but also simplify everyday life using products you already have around the house.

Among their advice is how to use an everyday fabric-softener sheet for more than just preventing dryer cling:

DRAWER SCENTER If fabric-softener sheets make your clothes smell nice in the dryer, just think what they could do in your dresser. Slip a few fresh ones between folded clothes.

THREAD DETANGLER To stop thread from twisting and knotting up, run the threaded needle through a fabric-softener sheet before starting to sew.

BOOK DEODORIZER Prevent your beloved old volumes from acquiring a musty smell by inserting a fabric-softener sheet between the pages.

SHOE FRESHENER: Sadly, shoes don't keep that just-purchased scent past one or two wearings. Place rolled-up sheets in the toes to control odor.

SAWDUST CLEANER: For wiping up sawdust after drilling, you need something that can grab the fine particles. A used fabric-softener sheet will do the trick.

SCUM BUSTER: Remove obstinate soap buildup from glass shower doors by sprinkling a few drops of water onto a used fabric-softener sheet and scrubbing.

CLING COMBATANT: When static attacks, pat yourself down with a fabric-softener sheet to get rid of the electricity.

Lady in red

A shade sure to electrify your wardrobe

SOFI PAPAMARKO
for Metro Canada

This month, we'll be seeing red. A lot of it. And it won't just be in the form of Valentines, cinnamon hearts and cellophane-wrapped bouquets.

Forward-thinking fashionistas are embracing red during this — the blah-est — time of year. Metro spoke with two of Canada's foremost fashion experts to find out why red is so hot this season.

"Red is always hot," says Lisa Tant, editor-in-chief of Flare magazine. "It feels particularly 'right' now because it gives off a burst of energy and passion at a dull time of year. It's also a classic look that is appropriate for any age and skin tone."

What if you want to wear red, but you're low on

Wallet clutch ($22), Smart Set

Scarf ($15.99), Dynamite

green?

"It's a smart investment when budgets are tight because it electrifies all of the basics in your wardrobe," says Tant.

Anita Clarke, editor and founder of Toronto-based fashion blog I Want I Got, has some tips on how to best wear red:

"Pay close attention to fit," she advises. "Red gowns are truly dramatic but cocktail dresses can be more fun and playful. For either style, I would wear a dress that has (few) details ... the colour and a clean silhouette should be the focus of the outfit. I like minimal accessories in a neutral colour, with black being my default."

If you're not a woman who feels comfortable in head-to-toe red, the vibrant hue also makes a great accent colour. (How many times have we heard What Not To Wear's Stacy London extol the virtues of a cute red shoe?). If a crimson gown is not your scene, try accessorizing a dark wool coat or black dress with a carmine purse, scarlet scarf or maybe even a raspberry beret.

"Red adds radiance and a glow to skin," explains Tant.

JANINE FALCON for Metro Canada

JEWELRY A young sasquatch with a passion for hockey, a surfing sea bear with a snowboarding obsession, a sports-enthusiast animal spirit with thunderbird wings, and an extroverted marmot with a fondness for food... meet the mascots of the Vancouver 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games. Inspired by West Coast First Nations folklore, Quatchi, Miga, Sumi and games-sidekick MukMuk are also quirky charms in a line of jewelry by Birks, official jeweler of the games.

Birks' 2010 Winter Games collection celebrates Canada's aboriginal culture as well as the Olympics. Nature-inspired elements depicting such things as a bear, tree, and a Squamish legend of surviving a great flood reinforce the theme as well as pay homage to the BC landscape.

Sade still the ultimate in cool

Sade

Album: Soldier of Love

Label: Epic/Sony

Rating: ★★★★★

SADE'S SMOOTH OPERATOR personified "cool" in the mid-'80s. Twenty five years later, Sade still is still the ultimate in cool, despite the rather obvious military-style drumming on the title track, Soldier of Love. Indeed, it's amazing how little Sade's sound has changed in all that time. Long and lingering vocals stretched out over a snail's pace with an occasional flash of more-than competent musicianship. Lyrical, however, the uber confidence of Smooth Operator has been replaced by mid-life regrets, doubts and outright tears. But it all comes together — strings, horns and all — on the exquisitely paced track In Another Time.

DON'T BE FOOLED

by the first track off Yeasayer's latest disc —

the haunting, crunchy sounds and deep, crunk-like vocals is a trick. If you can get past that sludgy (though intriguing) tune, you'll discover a world of beautiful electro pop. Ambling Alp is a gorgeous, even inspirational tune ("stick up for yourself son," goes the chorus), while the others songs are thickly layered with electronic instrumentation, rich harmonies, some Graceland-like beats and a lot more. There's rarely a dull second on this fantastic, thought-provoking disc.

Hollerado

Album: Record in a Bag

Label: Royal Mountain Records

Rating: ★★★★★

SOUND-GARDEN'S RE-UNITING, flannel's back in vogue and people are throwing '90s parties, so naturally a band that sounds like it came straight out of the 20th century's last decade is getting a lot of buzz. At least Toronto's Hollerado deserves much of the hype — their Weezer-meets-Strokes-in-a-bar-on-the-East-Coast vibe is extremely catchy. The tracks are all upbeat and fun — an excellent combo for a debut disc like this. They still have some work to do; Fake Drugs sounds too much like Rivers Cuomo, and other songs are lacking in parts, but these guys are on to something.

Massive Attack

Album: Heligoland

Label: Virgin/EMI

Rating: ★★★★★

TWO YEARS AGO

Portishead reinvented themselves and left trip-hop behind them. After seven years since their last album, Massive Attack are trying to do the same. Heligoland finds co-founding member Daddy G re-joining mainstay 3-D, but unfortunately this reunion is more 100th Window than Blue Lines. The first half of Heligoland drags like a corpse, with lacklustre vocal turns and beats that expired in the '90s. But Heligoland is a bottom-heavy listen. Guests Guy Garvey and Hope Sandoval resuscitate the flow in the second half with their contributions, while Damon Albarn's Saturday Comes Slow is the kind of sparkling dirge that can realign Massive Attack with their one-time peers.

it a secret that the follow-up to their critically acclaimed Trials of Van Occupanther would be a pretty big departure for the band. Recorded with Radiohead producer Nigel Godrich, Turn Ons is an album of covers, which as the title suggests is 12 personal favourites spanning the last 40 years. Taking on everyone from Bowie to The Cure, Gaz and Danny apply their Supergrass template and come out with some fresh perspectives, like a space-rock spin on the Beastie Boys' Fight For Your Right. The result is a dozen rave-ups catered for both classic rock and Britpop enthusiasts alike.

Percy Jackson is a kid with an epic secret

It's a tough task launching a CGI-packed adventure only weeks after animation spectacular Avatar becomes the biggest grossing movie ever.

Even if the director is Harry Potter heavy weight Chris Columbus.

But Percy Jackson and the Lightning Thief, has a secret weapon: Logan Lerman, a blue-eyed 18-year old ready to set teenage girls' hearts aflutter worldwide.

"I'm really proud of this movie, and I'm ready to be recognized," a relaxed Logan Lerman tells Metro at London's fashionable Gloucester Palace hotel.

Alongside him on the podium are assorted members of the star studded crew, including Pierce Brosnan, Steve Coogan and Kevin McKidd.

Despite his youth, Lerman has already starred with Mel Gibson twice (The Patriot and What Women Want). And Chris Columbus found what he was looking for in his leading young man in the western 3:10 to Yuma.

Columbus sees a future box-office superstar in Lerman and calls him a 40-year-old person in a 17-year-old body.

"I started very young,"

"Lerman plays a troubled high school student who stumbles across an astonishing secret: He's the son of Greek god of the oceans, Poseidon."

Lerman says. "I'm from Los Angeles and there's always an audition for some commercial just around the corner."

In Percy Jackson and the Lightning Thief, Lerman plays a troubled high school student who stumbles across an astonishing secret: He's the son of Greek god of the oceans, Poseidon (Kevin McKidd).

And it gets worse. He is suspected of stealing Zeus' lightning bolt and is hunted by monsters and Percy sets out on a quest to prove his innocence and rescue his mother who has been kidnapped by Hades (Steve Coogan). The movie is based on Rick Riordan's best sellers that mixes Greek mythology with 21st century U.S.A. (The portal to Olympus is on the Empire State Building and the way to hell goes via Hollywood).

Percy quickly learns sword-fighting and how to control his power over water, both inherited from his absent father.

Percy Jackson and the Lightning Thief opens Friday

He is brought to Camp Half-blood where other children of "Gods who have fallen in love with humans" are taught how to survive as demigods.

It looks a lot like summer camp, but with lethal ancient weapons.

Percy does some intense sword-fighting with budding love interest Annabeth (Alexandra Daddario), who is the daughter of Athena and no push-over.

"We only really had one fight and we didn't want to hurt each other."

"It was kind of stiff so to make it look better I let her hit me, and it looked great," Lerman recalls.

Ellen hits the right note

TV Fans took to the Internet to express their pleasant surprise over the 52-year-old funnylady's debut as the singing competition's fourth judge.

Ellen DeGeneres assumed her judging panel post for Tuesday's episode chronicling the first round of Hollywood Week, the cutthroat post-audition phase in which 181 contestants will be narrowed down to 24 semifinalists.

The majority of folks posting about DeGeneres on Twitter praised her performance. Some said they were only tuning in for DeGeneres, but not everyone was a devotee. A denim ensemble worn by DeGeneres, also host of The Ellen DeGeneres Show, was mocked by a few Tweeters.

When Fox announced that DeGeneres, an Emmy winner with no formal music experience, would be the new judge last September, fans were divided over the unlikely replacement for Paula Abdul, the

Ellen DeGeneres

"So this is it, huh? I come on, you leave."

Ellen DeGeneres to fellow judge Simon Cowell sugary sweet pop singer who judged Idol since it debuted in 2002 then left amid contract negotiations after the eighth season ended last year.

"Ellen completely met my expectations," said Dave Della Terza, founder of VoteForTheWorst.com, which encourages viewers to champion bad — but entertaining — singers. "She was trying way too hard. Her critiques weren't funny because no one wants to see a standup act at the judges' table."

But Andy Dehnart, editor of the popular reality TV blog www.reality-blurred.com and a lecturer at Stetson University, said DeGeneres seemed "more polished and on-point than the people who've been sitting at that table for eight years." DeGeneres is on the judging panel alongside Simon Cowell, Randy Jackson and Kara DioGuardi.

"Ellen DeGeneres keeps surprising us," he said. "She excels as a talk show host, and if she keeps up what she did tonight, she'll easily establish herself as the best judge."

DeGeneres' addition comes at a time of change for the aging Fox franchise, which is produced by 19 Entertainment and FremantleMedia North America. Cowell is leaving at the end of the current season to judge and executive produce an American version of The X Factor, a talent show he created in Britain. DeGeneres didn't let Cowell off for the move.

"So this is it, huh?" she whispered to him after joining the panel. "I come on, you leave."

Several names have been bandied about as potential Cowell replacements but Fox and the show's producers have not announced a replacement for the acerbic British judge.

Family matters

TV For a good cause, NBC stars, including Amy Poehler and Peter Krause and anchorman Brian Williams, are weighing in on what parenthood means to them.

The network has joined with the Boys & Girls Clubs of America in a campaign intended to promote discussion about parenthood and raise funds for the group's Family Strengthening Initiative.

For each person who finishes the sentence "Parenthood is..." for submission at The Parenthood Project website, NBC will contribute $20 US to the initiative. The network, which launched the site Tuesday, said it's committed to donating $100,000.

Poehler, who stars in the NBC comedy Parks & Recreation

ation, concluded that parenthood is "something funny happening every day," while Williams called it "as rewarding as anything in life."

NBC isn't being entirely altruistic: The network has an upcoming series, Parenthood and is weaving promotion of the show in with the campaign.

The hour-long drama, based on the 1989 movie of the same name, debuts 9 p.m. EST on March 1. Its ensemble cast includes Krause, Lauren Graham, Craig T. Nelson and Bonnie Bedelia.

NBC is passionate about the series and wants to generate interest in it, but also saw a chance to "achieve our goals and do some good along the way" by teaming with Boys & Girls Clubs, said Adam Stotsky, president of NBC Entertainment Marketing.

Rice readies new video book

Anne Rice is giving the video book a try.

The author of Interview With a Vampire, The Vampire Lestat and many other favourites has agreed to terms with the video book company Vook on a multimedia edition of The Master of Rampling Gate, a vampire story published in Redbook magazine in 1984 and set in an England mansion in the 19th century.

"Vook represents a very exciting combination of new technological elements, that I think is long overdue in publishing," Rice said in a statement released Wednesday by Vook. "I'm excited that The Master of Rampling Gate is going to have new life in this form, and cannot wait to see the finished product. I'm not sure that my mind can conceive of all the possibilities of this new form. I'm learning. And it feels good."

Opinions are still mixed among publishers and authors about video books, or vooks, with some calling them a gimmick and others saying new formats are needed for the Internet age. The product integrates text, video and social networking.

Vook founder Bradley Inman says The Sherlock Holmes Experience, based on two stories by Conan Doyle, has been downloaded thousands of times.

The Jay Leno Show is over, but the talk show host will return to The Tonight show next month.

Final show sees Trump 'fire' Leno

Jay Leno ushered out one of television's biggest flops without sentiment on Tuesday, the final night of a prime-time experiment doomed by bad ratings and bad vibes.

Leno told a few barbed jokes about The Jay Leno Show, and Donald Trump told him "you're fired." Leno will return to his old perch at the Tonight show after the Olympics.

Desperate to keep both Leno and Conan O'Brien, NBC gave Leno a show five nights a week at 10 p.m. EST and made O'Brien the Tonight show host. The Jay Leno Show was one of the boldest scheduling moves in years, but the size of Leno's audience — while fine for late night — couldn't cut it in prime time.

Late news shows following Leno on NBC affiliates dropped sharply in the ratings. With some affiliates threatening to yank Leno, NBC proposed cutting his show to a half-hour at 11:35 p.m. and moving O'Brien back a half-hour. O'Brien refused and took a buyout from NBC.

"It seems like just yesterday I was telling NBC this was not going to work," Leno said in his final monologue, and it wasn't clear he was joking.

"This show was supposed to be on for two years," Leno said, "but we got five months for good behaviour."

Leno said he should have known it wasn't going to last, and he showed a film of him pulling his car into a parking space that said, Jay Leno, No Parking After Feb. 9.

Actor Ashton Kutcher was a guest, and recently retired pro football quarterback Kurt Warner was brought on to throw a few passes to him. Actress Gabourey Sidibe came on to talk about her best actress nomination for the Academy Awards.

Leno didn't talk about the Tonight show move. The studio set, if it's kept, will require some changes: the number 10 is now in-laid onto the stage where Leno stands to deliver his monologue.

When the show ended, there wasn't any time to say goodbye. A question-and-answer session with NBC Sports anchor Bob Costas appeared to run long, and Leno barely had time to urge his viewers to stay tuned for the late local news. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sing us a song piano man

"Theme" restaurants come and go, but I have never seen one so devoted to the idea of spectacle as The Red Piano. More accurate-

Unfortunately, they were unattended on our early Valentine's Day celebration and we instead gazed around at the luxurious — if slightly scuffed — New Orleans-inspired décor of Canada's first Cajun bistro and duelling piano bar. I had decided to skip the terrific wine list in favour of a California Dreamin' ($7) cocktail of absolut, OJ and soda — which I found a little heavy on the soda. The menu was a Cajun marvel, from alligator to jambalaya, with prices in keeping with West Edmonton

I have no doubt that the stunning lounge is a pianofuelled delight, and the food was quite good. However, The Red Piano needs to remember to show a different face during the day

if it is serious about attracting Edmonton's dining public, especially for a romantic Valentine's Day meal

Dining out

10 YEAR ANNIVERSARY The Century Club (Century Grill, Lux, deluxe, Hundred) celebrates 10 years of grilling with the redesigned Century Room: they aim to provide the evolution of lounging on Edmonton's south side. House DJ Nic-E spins on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays while patrons snack on locally-sourced, modern comfort foods with a twist. 3975 Gateway Blvd.

On Tuesday, enjoy Sabzy's Persian cuisine, drink specials and unlimited use of their hookahs. Their "green gourmet culture" spot on Whyte and 104th offers legendary beef, lamb and chicken skewers in a warm, exotic space. Enjoy the food and take away on the flavourful hookahs for dessert. For more information visit sabzy.net.

"Sonic Middle-Aged Dudes" just doesn't have much of a ring to it. The closing episode of this series gets up close and personal with the "noise rock" band Sonic Youth, formed in 1981 during the waning years of the punk movement and still noisy after all these years. Interviews with members of the group are interspersed with performance footage from the '80s and from a tour stop last year in Kansas City. Mo. 6 PM on BRAVO

French Kiss

It's a romantic comedy. With Meg Ryan. What more do you need to know? She's a desperate young woman who overcomes her fear of flying to search for her fiancé (Timothy Hutton) after he calls her from Paris to break their engagement. On the plane, she meets a French jewel thief (Kevin Kline) who uses her luggage to smuggle a diamond bracelet. You'll have the ending figured out about 15 minutes in, so unless you can't get enough of Meg doing her cute thing, save yourself a couple of hours. 7 PM on VISION

Supermodel Gisele Bündchen, 29, shows off the first photo of her baby boy, Benjamin, in Brazilian mag Quem. The two-month-old is all bundled up in a blue jacket and matching hat while dozing off in Bündchen's arms, femalefirst.co.uk reports. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Paris is for lovers ... of Johnny's style

ONE THING UPON WHICH THE FRENCH AND THE REST OF THE WORLD AGREE From the long, stringy hair and goatee to the layers of offbeat accessories and everything in between, nobody can quite pull off a look like Johnny Depp — especially as far as his longtime girlfriend Vanessa Paradis is concerned, people.com reports.

"I love his style, yeah, yeah, yeah!" Paradis told People magazine. "I love him, and I don't have to say I like this and I don't like that. When you love somebody, you take them as they are. I would not change him."

Besides Depp's eclectic style, the French singer and actress, 37, is attracted to all the qualities of her beau (since 1998). "I like him very much in all terms and every sense of the way," she said. "He makes me happy. We are many things — we are together and, in a way, one person."

Sheen 'committed' to making marriage work

HOW MANY SYNONYMS ARE THERE FOR THE WORD 'RUUUUUUN'? Now that the court drama stemming from their Christmas morning fight is over, Charlie Sheen and Brooke Mueller are reportedly hoping to fix the problems in their marriage. "Charlie and Brooke already are going through intense marriage counseling and Charlie has been very religious about attending Alcoholics Anonymous meetings and serious anger management counseling," a source tells the Chicago Sun-Times.

Is Hilton secretly engaged?

THE LIZ TAYLOR OF FIANCEES Paris Hilton may already be engaged to Doug Reinhardt and just waiting to announce it, and if so she may have just tipped her hand.

The heiress was accepting an award for her charity work at a benefit in Los Angeles when she said, "I'd like to thank my future sister-in-law Casey Reinhardt," according to E! News.

Hilton, who has been dating Reinhardt for a year, has hinted that a wedding may be in the works, saying last month, "I wouldn't rule out a wedding in 2010. With how amazing everything is going between us, I see a very bright and happy future."

Anne's self-reflection

OH, NO ANNE, YOU'RE SOOO PRETTY It turns out Anne Hathaway's toughest critic is herself. The Valentine's Day and Alice in Wonderland star laments her looks in the latest issue of In Style magazine. "I think I've got really weird features. I have very large features on a very small head. But, you know, I'm not going to beat myself up," she says. "I look like myself, and I think at the end of the day, as nice as pretty is, authenticity is more important."

Mayer dishes on sex with Jessica

STAY CLASSY, MAYER John Mayer is kissing and telling — again, us-magazine.com reports. In its exclusive peek at Playboy's March issue, the website reports the singer, 32, dishes on everything from his past relationships with Jessica Simpson and Jennifer Aniston to his dream mate.

He dubs 29-year-old Simpson (whom he dated from 2006 to 2007) "a drug."

"And drugs aren't good for you if you do lots of them," he says, adding, "Yeah, that girl is like crack cocaine to me."

"Sexually it was crazy. That's all I'll say," he continues.

Channing shows Ellen how to strip

AND FROM NOW ON ALL HER GUESTS MUST DO THE SAME (EXCEPT RUSH LIMBAUGH)

American Idol judge Ellen DeGeneres seemed rhapsodic at having her talk-show guest Channing Tatum demonstrate some of the moves he made in his former job as a male dancer on her show yesterday, people.com reports.

"What kind of dancer were you, Channing?" DeGeneres asked Tatum, 29. "I was a stripper," replied the Dear John star, prompting loud applause from the in-studio audience. And so, Tatum demonstrated what men strippers do — though, not a thread was removed. Still, said Tatum, "Now I'm embarrassed."

Madonna ditches boytoy, eyes more recent model

HE WAS GETTING TOO OLD FOR HER Madonna is allegedly livid that Jesus Luz is going around telling people that he was the one who did the dumping in the breakdown of their relationship.

"She's furious and feels humiliated," a source tells the Daily Mail. "She feels he has her to thank for his modeling success and is calling all her designer friends, telling them not to use him."

But Madonna appears to have found just the thing to get over the 23-year-old Brazilian model. She's reportedly been getting cozy with 24-year-old Spanish model Jon Kortajarena after meeting him late last year.

"She has made some enquiries about him and has found out a bit more about some of his future modeling gigs in a bid to use her influence to his advantage," the source says.

Metro Recipe of the Day

Healthy Home-Cooked Chili

Submitted by Stacey Graham, Vancouver, B.C.

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 tbsp olive oil
- 2 clove garlic, minced
- 1 small onion, diced
- 1 tbsp fresh thyme and rosemary (optional)
- 1 pound lean ground beef
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/2 cup tomato paste
- 1 can tomatoes, chopped, drained
- 1 can red beans
- 1 can corn
- 1/3 cup fresh cilantro, chopped
- 1/2 cup cheddar cheese, shredded
- 1 ripe avocado, sliced
- 1 cup nacho chips

METHOD:

1. In a frying pan add olive oil, onion, garlic, thyme,

- and rosemary. Add beef and cook until browned.
2. Meanwhile, put corn and tomatoes into a large pot and cook over medium heat. Add tomato paste, beans, cilantro and chili powder. Stir in beef mixture.
3. Cook until heated and flavours mix together.
4. Garnish with cheddar cheese and avocado pieces sprinkled on top. Serve with a side of nacho chips.

ARIES
MARCH 21-APRIL 20
Whether it is you keeping secrets from others or others keeping secrets from you there will certainly be plenty of deception going on.

TAURUS
APRIL 21-MAY 21
You know what you want and you know how to get it but it might still be wise to get as many people on your side as you possibly can.

GEMINI
MAY 22-JUNE 21
It will pay you to be a little less intense today, especially when dealing with employers and people in positions of power.

CANCER
JUNE 22-JULY 22
You should not find it too hard today to forgive someone who says something less than flattering about you.

LEO
JULY 23-AUG 23
You have been revealing too much about yourself to colleagues and strangers of late and it is time to be a bit more mysterious.

VIRGO
AUG 24-SEPT 22
Get on top of your workload today and, more importantly, stay on top of it for the rest of the week.

LIBRA
SEPT 23-OCT 23
Everyone has doubts about what they have done and what they should have done but did not.

SCORPIO
OCT 24-NOV 22
